Confessed Bigamist Held at Hearing

'Other Information' Kept Secret
By 38-Year-Old North Sider

A North Side man has been ordered held for court after admitting to charges of committing bigamy.

Julius Allen Stevens, 38, listened passively last night to a recitation of charges filed by the woman who says she is wife No. 3.

In the hearing before Alderman William L. Luther, Stevens pleaded guilty. But later he said that he did not have three wives.

"I have other information," he said, but refused to comment further.

It was the information of Mrs. Eleanor Biggs Stevens, of 2231 Holyoke St., that led to Stevens' arrest in Alexandria, Va. by Constable Lou Braughton.

he told the alderman that she had married Stevens Sept. 9, after a whirlwind 40-day courtship, begun while both were working at Greater Pittsburgh Airport.

According to Mrs. Stevens, her husband said he was a Central Intelligence agent and had to go to Miami.

Three days after their marriage, he drove off in her car.

When she didn't hear from him, she said, she thought he had met with foul play in his Government work.

Before she was through tracking him to Washington, she told the alderman, she found out that he was not a CI agent; that he had a wife and child in England and was visiting wife No. 2.
